Reclaiming the Piazza II:

Catholic Education and the New Evangelization

Editors: Ronnie Convery, Leonardo Franchi, Raymond McCluskey

Preface by Archbishop Rino Fisichella

To reclaim the cultural “piazza” the Christian message must be attractive, reasonable and relevant. With insights from school and university educators and professional communicators this is a wide-ranging, up-to-date and practical call for a new engagement between Catholics and representatives of secular culture.

Saint Bruno the Carthusian - André Ravier, S.J.

André Ravier's classic biography, drawing extensively on original documents, reveals the real Bruno, allowing this great saint, the very model of the pure contemplative, to teach us the value of setting aside the transitory to seek solitude in one's own heart - “to seek God alone”.

Newman and History - Edward Short

Edward Short shows how important history was to all aspects of Newman's life and work. There are essays here on Newman and Edward Gibbon; Newman and the Whig historians; and Newman and the law, especially the infamous Achilli trial of 1851, which pitted him against a Protestant Establishment still smarting from the restoration of the Catholic hierarchy.
